Shimano's top of the line road pedal

Shimano's top of the line road pedal is now better than ever. The 2nd generation of the Dura-Ace pedal has been improved with a stainless steel pedal body cover to replace the plastic cover on the previous version. It is also wider for better foot support and power transfer. A great choice for those demanding top quality construction, great entry and release action, lightweight, and a generous platform. It uses the same cleat as the PD-7800.
